

Whistleblowing Policy and Procedure

Introduction

Family Federation for World Peace and Unification (FFWPU) aims to accomplish our mission through integrity, this means being honest and transparent in what we do and say and accepting responsibility for our individual and collective actions. It is expected that those working for and representing FFWPU shall act with integrity. FFWPU shall be an organisation that acts with integrity and honesty.

In order for stakeholders of FFWPU to have confidence in our honesty and integrity, this policy aims to provide a supportive process that encourages and enables employees or workers to raise concerns about misconduct within FFWPU without repercussion and will give them confidence that their concerns will be properly investigated and resolved in a timely manner.

Legal and Policy Impact

This policy considers the following legislation:

- Human Rights Act (1998)
- Public Interest Disclosure Act (1998)
- Employment Rights Act (1996) sections 44 and 100

Where an employee has a concern about their terms and conditions of work, their working relationship with FFWPU, how a concern they raised was addressed, or feeling they are being bullied or harassed in the workplace for either blowing the whistle, or for any other reason, they are encouraged to use FFWPU's grievance procedure.

The FFWPU website outlines its vision, mission, programme principles and values. All workers are expected to operate within these and where there is reasonable evidence that these are not being followed it will be addressed by the line manager.

Similarly, if an employee is found to have raised a complaint or a false allegation for malicious reasons, the employee will be disciplined, which may result in their dismissal. Where the disciplinary process does not apply (for example, to contractors / consultants), steps may be taken to terminate their relationship with FFWPU.

Scope of the Policy

This policy applies to all employees, contractors / consultants, agency workers, trustees, interns, volunteers or those on work placement working on behalf of FFWPU. Throughout the document, the term “worker” will apply to collectively define these groups.

FFWPU’s Policy on Whistleblowing

FFWPU’s policy on whistleblowing has the following objectives:

- To provide direction to all FFWPU workers on what is unacceptable practice within FFWPU, and to provide a safe and secure environment to blow the whistle on unacceptable practice.
- To protect workers who raise a concern in good faith and who have a reasonable suspicion that the alleged malpractice has occurred, is occurring, or is likely to occur.
- To provide reassurance to those workers who raise concerns in good faith and with reasonable suspicion that they will not experience any repercussions for doing so.

This policy aims to make workers aware of their rights and responsibilities with regards to upholding the values and standards of practice at FFWPU and how to raise concerns when these standards of practice are not upheld.

Whilst this is not an exhaustive list, malpractice would include the following:

- A criminal offence, including theft, fraud or corruption
- A failure to comply with a legal obligation, including but not limited those under the Charity Commission or financial regulations
- A miscarriage of justice
- Accepting gifts which are intended to influence decision making
- The endangering of an individual’s health and safety, and wellbeing : this would include towards worker at FFWPU or visitor to FFWPU
- Damage to the environment or conduct with conflicts with FFWPU’s interests
- Deliberate and disregard or serious breach of FFWPU’s principles and values
- Deliberate concealment of information to any of the above

The behaviour that gives rise to the concern does not have to take place in the UK.

Responsibilities

The National Director is accountable for ensuring the effective implementation of this policy throughout FFWPU and representing FFWPU's interests / concerns in the event of publicity or litigation resulting from a whistleblowing allegation.

Line managers (anyone with a direct report) are responsible for ensuring that the principles of this policy are communicated and understood throughout their teams. They are also responsible for putting the policy into practice. These responsibilities include:

- Ensuring that all concerns raised by workers are taken seriously where appropriate.
- Ensuring that concerns are investigated properly, objectively and in a timely manner.
- Ensuring that the worker is kept informed of progress.
- Ensuring that action is taken to resolve the concern.

The Human Resources Office is responsible for providing coaching, advice and guidance to line managers on the implementation and use of the policy.

How to raise a concern

In the event where they suspect malpractice, workers at FFWPU have a responsibility to inform someone who will be able to do something about the problem. They must provide details about the malpractice immediately they become aware. All attempts should be made to raise the concern internally in the first instance. Please see the attached worker guidance on raising a concern.

Worker Guidance on Whistleblowing

Determining whether to use the Whistleblowing Policy

This quick question section may help you to determine whether you should use the whistleblowing procedure.

- Does the malpractice fall under one of the following?
  - A criminal offence, including theft, fraud or corruption
  - A failure to comply with a legal obligation, namely those under the Charity Commission or financial regulations
  - A miscarriage of justice
  - The endangering of an individual's health and safety, and wellbeing : this would include worker at FFWPU or visitor to FFWPU
  - Damage to the environment or conduct, which conflicts with FFWPU's interests
  - Deliberate disregard or serious breach of FFWPU's principles and values
  - Deliberate concealment of information to any of the above
- Do you have genuine reason to believe that malpractice occurred either in the past, recently, or is likely to occur in near future?
- What details do you have? Check that the details are not judgements or assumptions but based on facts.
- Do you feel vulnerable or at risk?

Letting someone know

As soon as you become aware of, or have good reason to believe that, malpractice either has occurred, is occurring or likely to occur by a worker within FFWPU, raise your concern with an appropriate member of staff within FFWPU. In the first instance, this would usually be your immediate line manager. You can make a report either orally or in writing.

If the malpractice concerns your line manager, then raise your concern with their line manager.

If you believe the malpractice is within your line management structure, then raise your concern with the Human Resources Office, which will consider in discussion with the National Director how it will be investigated.

If the malpractice is regarding health and safety, raise your concern with the Head of Operations, who has delegated responsibility for health and safety matters within FFWPU. It is also advisable to inform your line manager at this point.

If you genuinely believe that you will be subjected to detrimental treatment if you report the concern to an appropriate person within FFWPU, or that making a disclosure to someone within FFWPU will result in destruction or concealment of evidence relating to the concern, or you believe that your concern was not dealt with satisfactorily by FFWPU, you may raise your concern with an external body. Details can be found in the bibliography.

Providing details about your concern

As soon as you become aware of or suspect malpractice, you have a duty to inform an appropriate person of your concern. If it is later found that you were aware of malpractice and had withheld information, this may have serious consequences for you.

When reporting your concern, you will be required to give your name, your position, and details about the concern, including any evidence that you have to support the concern. This will enable the best possible investigation.

Your Position

If you want to raise the matter in confidence, please make this clear when you make the report so that the appropriate arrangements can be made. Alternatively, you may make a report anonymously but please note that it is much harder (and sometimes impossible) to investigate suspicious without having direct access to the individual who raised the concern. It is best to declare your identity if possible.

If you genuinely believe that malpractice has occurred, is occurring or likely to occur, FFWPU will ensure that you do not suffer any disadvantage in the workplace as a consequence to raising your concern.

If you raise a concern which is later found that you knew to be false and / or raise a concern out of malice, then disciplinary action will be taken and may result in your dismissal. For those who the disciplinary process does not apply (for example, contractors / consultants), steps will be taken to terminate the relationship with FFWPU.

Next Steps

The concern will be investigated by the person to whom it is raised. All workers called upon to assist the investigation will have a duty to co-operate and may request that their concerns are treated in confidence. Again, such wishes will be respected.

The investigating manager will provide regular information to the worker who raised the concern on the progress of the investigation up until an outcome has been reached. Please note that this does not necessarily mean that the outcome of the investigation will be divulged to the worker, especially when relating the privacy of another individual.

The investigating manager will forward all original investigation material to the Human Resources Office for further action as appropriate and/or storage.

The investigating manager will monitor and ensure that appropriate steps are taken to address the cause for concern.

FFWPU will respect and heed any legitimate concerns about your own safety or career and will seek not to disclose your identity without your expressed consent. Any attempt to victimise a worker for having raised a concern about malpractice, or to deter anyone from raising such a concern, is a serious disciplinary offence.

We will do everything possible to keep your identity secret (if you so wish) but there may be circumstances when you may be needed as a witness (for example, if your report becomes the subject of a criminal investigation). Should this be the case, we will seek to discuss the matter with you at the earliest opportunity.
